I fucked up. A lot.

I did something that might have ruined somebody. And I'm really sorry for that: I groomed someone.

Long time ago, I created a horny private account to let my thoughts out. I'd accept everyone who is able to handle that, and I didn't come across anyone complaining. The first mistake I made was to create a horny account. And the second, well it was to let minors inside the account. For a long time, I kept sharing my thoughts. A rule of the account that I set is that I would talk naughtily to anyone if I had the occasion. That was another mistake.

Shortly after the creation of the account, there was this girl (14) that kept replying to my tweets sometimes, and we could talk naughtily. Since she didn't have her age in bio, I assumed she was around 16 at that time so I kept talking like that with her. But soon, when a friend of mine told me that she was actually 14, I stopped texting like that with her and deactivated that account for a short while. I realized and I apologized. Everything was okay.

But soon after, I reactivated that account. And when I did it, I didn't think of anything and was just controlled by horniness when talking to people. Basically, that same girl was still there, and basically we went into DMs and sexted, forgetting that I was talking to someone who was 14 because of horniness. It happened twice. We sexted twice after the reactivation of my account. And I was still blinded by how horny I was when doing that. So doing it 3 times is just totally not okay.

It's just this morning, after I realized a lot of people blocked me, that I realized it was because of these actions.

I didn't mean to, but I did it. And it's totally wrong. I hurt them and everyone else who found out. I know it's messed up, and I'm really, really sorry.

I am now aware that what I did was totally not okay. I realized how stupid and disgusting I was. I just realized. The first time it was accidental, but the second and third time were not okay.

I've harmed and deceived a lot of people by doing that. I tainted my reputation over some bullshit. I'm braindead. I am stupid. I am worthless.

I am terribly sorry for that. Really sorry. I didn't realize how harmful it was. I would like to apologize to everyone, not only the victim.

I don't want to be someone who does stuff like this. I'm going to try to make it right, but I know saying sorry isn't enough. I'm willing to change. And for the better. I'll try my best. I will try to be better. Because this is fucked up. I'll leave social media for a moment, reflect on myself and change. The horny account is already deactivated and every other account of mine should too.

I don’t want to be a pedophile. I don’t want to be a groomer. In fact, I am not one. I would say it was accidental, but I don’t think people would believe me, which is the case. It shouldn’t even be an excuse, I know. I’m just disgusting for doing all that. I should have been more aware of these actions. I’m taking accountability for everything I did. I am responsible for everything. I need to change that.

I'm going to talk to the cops and get some help from people who will know about this stuff. I'm taking a break from all my social media accounts to figure out why I did this and how not to be that guy anymore. I'm not asking for forgiveness anymore because I don't think I deserve it. I deceived everyone. I just want you all to know that I'm trying to be better. I'll be gone from here for a while. Please, if you can, just give me a chance to show I'm not like this.

Once again, I am really sorry for everything I did.
